U.S. Envoys Mum After Ho States No Trial in View

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department withheld comment today on a cable from North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh to the Columbia Broadcasting System declaring there is "no trial in view" for captured American airmen.

CBS had sent a message Thursday to the North Vietnamese leader asking whether he had decided to place the airmen on trial. Ho's four-word reply, in English, was received Sunday.

The Hanoi government had indicated earlier that the captured pilots would be tried as war criminals. The Pentagon says about 45 Americans are captives in North Viet Nam and contends they should be treated as prisoners of war.

A White House spokesman said today the Ho Chi Minh message "confirms information we had" Saturday about (North Vietnamese) intentions. Press secretary Bill D. Moyers said word reached President Johnson through diplomatic sources, while the President was touring the Midwest Saturday, "which is consistent with what the Columbia Broadcasting System was told yesterday."

"We aren't exactly sure what this means," Moyers told reporters. "We are watching it very closely and beyond that I cannot go."

Roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman again cautioned Hanoi Sunday against going through with threats to try the Americans, but declined to predict what sanctions the United States would invoke if the trials were held.

Harriman, appearing on a locally televised program, "Meeting of the Minds," on WRC, also indicated that Hanoi has shown no willingness to exchange the U.S. airmen in the North for several hundred North Vietnamese prisoners held in the South.

But the ambassador, who heads U.S. efforts in behalf of the American prisoners, said "there has been some movement" in efforts to free some 18 GIs held by Viet Cong guerrillas in South Viet Nam.

Rep. Roman C. Pucinski, D-Ill., said Sunday in Chicago that Hanoi would violate its own pledge for safe treatment of prisoners if it does try the U.S. airmen.

Pucinski displayed a leaflet printed in both English and Vietnamese and signed "South Viet Nam Liberation Army." "Obviously, you are a prisoner of war. You have no rights and no responsibilities to observe the code of conduct of the U.S. Army," the leaflet said in part.

"The South Viet Nam National Liberation Front is struggling for national independence, having justice and applying a human, lenient policy towards prisoners of war: no killing, no beating, no humiliating prisoners of war."

Pucinski apparently based his conclusion on the official U.S. policy that Hanoi controls and directs the operations of the National Liberation Front, or Viet Cong as it generally is known.

Thus, he said: "There is not the slightest doubt in my mind that Hanoi will commit a monumental violation of its own code for treatment of prisoners of war if it attempts to prosecute or otherwise punish our American soldiers."

South Vietnamese Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky repeated his contention that only a military invasion of the North can bring complete victory in the war.

Pit Explosion Kills 7 Miners

MOUNT HOPE, W. Va. (AP) — "The explosion was almost impossible to describe. It knocked me off my feet. We were lucky to get out, but when the mine reopened I'll be there."

With those words Hugh Garrett, 50, described the underground gas explosion at the Silix mine of New River Co. that killed seven miners here Saturday.

Two miners, one in serious condition, remain in Oak Hill Hospital near this small southern West Virginia community.

An investigation of the cause of the explosion was to begin today with United Mine Workers, company, federal and state representatives participating.

Racial Leaders Seeking To Keep Cleveland Peace

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — White and Negro leaders looked today for ways to prevent a new outbreak of racial violence in Cleveland's East Side slums, wrecked with a week of sniping and incendiary fires before order was restored.

Police and National Guardsmen, helped by a heavy rain, maintained the peace for the second straight night, prompting Police Chief Richard R. Wagner to say: "We are not prophesying or predicting but we are hoping the riots are over."

The rioting, which began last Monday night, left 4 dead, nearly 50 injured and heavy property damage.

As the unrest abated, white and Negro leaders got together over the weekend and formed a broader base of understanding in an effort to deal with some of the problems at the root of the violence.

Baxter Hill, president of the Cleveland chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality, called the new group "a step in the right direction."

"There will be peace in the Negro community," he predicted, "but we expect some positive effort soon to solve the problems of rat infestation, of litter and garbage and of unemployment in the Negro areas."

The first material step was taken today with the establishment of an employment center to find work for those who had lost their jobs at stores burned and looted during the week of violence.

Chief Wagner is expected to recommend withdrawal soon of National Guard troops. Relative peace began to develop Saturday night, and Sunday night was even quieter than normally for the area.

Fewer police and guardsmen patrolled the Hough area, predominantly Negro slum section where the rioting started, and bordering neighborhoods. These included a community known as "Little Italy." A Negro was killed between it and Hough early Saturday. Three white men were arrested in connection with the shooting.

Col. Robert Canterbury indicated that it was likely the 2,000 guardsmen on duty in the riot areas would be pulled out gradually.

Many residents in the area credited the return of peace to meetings among Negroes, Puerto Ricans and others arranged by city officials, clergy, anti-poverty and youth workers, police community relations officers and others.

The biggest peace effort was made at City Hall Saturday afternoon, when youth leaders made pledges to Mayor John N. Lindsay to "cool it off" in East New York.

Police Superintendent O. W. Wilson recommended their release after conferring with Maj. Gen. Francis Kane, commander of the Guard.

The orders releasing the final 700 guardsmen were issued by Gov. Otto Kern.

Kerner activated the troops when police were unable to cope with mobs that broke windows, looted stores and stoned police. Two persons were killed during three nights of rioting.

Keeping Score On the Rainfall

These incidents reflect an irritated mood among some senators who feel that Johnson wants only consent, and not advice, on foreign policy matters. His reaction to Fulbright's speech may stiffen that attitude.

How deep this dissent goes was demonstrated when the Senate voted 51 to 31 to cut $42 million in additional funds from the administration's already riddled foreign aid bill.

Eleven of 18 senators who signed a July 15 "plea for sanity" against further escalation of the Viet Nam war supported the fund reduction.

Israeli-Syrian Water Dispute Reaches U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council meets today to discuss the Israeli air raid on the Syrian project to divert waters of the River Jordan.

Syria and Israel each filed complaints against each other. Syrian Ambassador George J. Tomeh and Israeli Ambassador Michael S. Comay were to speak first in the council debate.

Comay wrote the council that the raid was meant to show Syria how gravely Israel viewed "continual Syrian violence." He blamed Syria for four land-mine explosions in Israel that had killed two Israelis in the 24 hours before the raid.

Comay had previously accused Syria of being "the source, training ground, principal supplier and main support of a vicious terrorist organization variously known as El-Fatah (Conquest) and El-Asefa (Storm), organized to penetrate into Israeli territory and carry out acts of terrorism and sabotage."

Tomeh in a letter to the council denied that the mines were planted by infiltrators from Syria. He said Syria could not "be held responsible for the activities of El-Fatah and El-Asefa." He declared that the Israeli planes had hit mechanical equipment, destroyed bulldozers and killed a woman.

The Syrian ambassador said the planes struck "the area in which an economic development plan of vital importance to Syria and neighboring countries is taking place."

He went on: "Israeli officials have made no secret that they will prevent the execution of this plan by force. The Israeli authorities, actively engaged as they are in usurping the Arab waters of the Jordan river, are determined to prevent any Arab country from proceeding to good use of its waters."

The Arab river-development scheme is a reaction to a similar Israeli scheme. In 1964 Israel started piping Jordan water to the Negev Desert and warned that she would "act for the preservation of her vital rights" if the Arab countries took "unilateral and illegal measures." An Arab League summit meeting in Alexandria then called for "immediate work on projects for the exploitation of the waters of the River Jordan and its tributaries."

Grand Jury To Get Data On Massacre

CHICAGO (AP) — Evidence the state will use in its case against Richard Speck, accused of strangling and stabbing eight nurses, was scheduled to be presented to the Cook County grand jury today.

State's Atty. Daniel Ward said Sunday, "We anticipate the presentation of this case to the grand jury Monday."

Speck, 24, is confined to the city jail hospital where he has been since his arrest July 17. His condition was reported Sunday as satisfactory.

Speck is charged with murdering Gloria Jean Davy, 22, who police believe was the first of the eight nurses killed when an intruder forced his way July 14 into the South Side townhouse where the nurses lived.

Police arrested Speck July 17 at Cook County Hospital where he was being treated for self-inflicted wounds. He was taken to city jail hospital where he suffered a seizure that was first believed to be a heart attack.

Doctors report Speck is suffering from pericarditis, an inflammation of the membranous sac that encases the heart.

The nine guerrilla attacks south of Saigon were aimed at small outposts held by lightly armed South Vietnamese militia forces. Starting a few hours after midnight the Viet Cong began harassing posts strung in a crescent about 16 to 25 miles south of the city.

Senate Seen Hardening Foreign Policy Dissent

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's sharp reply to Sen. J. W. Fulbright's speech questioning the President's Asian aims may harden senatorial foreign policy dissent.

If Johnson found it difficult to follow the Foreign Relations Committee chairman's reasoning — as White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers reported — Fulbright's colleagues got the point the Arkansas Democrat was making Friday in a Senate speech.

This point was that the Johnson administration appears to be heading toward the export of the Great Society to non-Communist countries in Asia while it polices that continent against aggression.

If any such doctrine is in the making, Fulbright and Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield agreed the Senate ought to be taken in on the ground floor while the construction work is going on.

Moyers' assertion that Johnson has gone out of his way "to try to involve the Senate in the development of his policies" falls short of senatorial desires. The old complaint prevails that senators always are invited to the crash landings and almost never to the takeoffs.

Fulbright made the point that statements by executive department officials have a way of growing into government commitments that Congress finds it cannot ignore or alter. He cited Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's statement that there is a "Johnson Doctrine" for Asia, presumably akin to the Monroe Doctrine for Latin America.

This gave Mansfield the opportunity to observe that he was "not aware that the vice president had taken over the presidency."

At the same time, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., cautioned against "any disposition to accept interpretations or statements by vice presidents with reference to presidential policies" as being official.

These incidents reflect an irritated mood among some senators who feel that Johnson wants only consent, and not advice, on foreign policy matters. His reaction to Fulbright's speech may stiffen that attitude.

Arkansas Going to Polls After Heated Campaign

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) —

About 400,000 of the state's 687,631 registered voters are expected to vote with about an eighth of the anticipated turnout voting in the GOP primary.

Faubus, who defeated Rockefeller two years ago in the state's first real interparty fight since Reconstruction, said he would not take part in the primary and he has made no public utterances for any candidate.

The big question has been whether the political organization that has backed Faubus for most of his 12 years in office is behind any candidate in this race.

Several candidates have charged that Frank Holt of Little Rock, a 55-year-old former attorney general and State Supreme Court justice, has machine backing. Holt has denied the charge.

Candidates Jim Johnson of Conway, Sam Boyce of Newport and Kenneth Sulcer of Osceola have broadened the machine talk to include Dale Alford, 50, an eye surgeon from Little Rock, and Brooks Hays, 67, a former congressman and adviser to Presidents John F. Kennedy and Johnson. They say the machine is backing Alford and Hays in case Holt can't win.

The seventh candidate is Raymond Rebsamen, 68, a Little Rock businessman and civic leader.

Rockefeller is opposed in the Republican primary by Gus McMillan of Sheridan, who ran for governor as a Democrat in 1954. Rockefeller says that Democrats put McMillan in the race to harass him.

U.S. Envoys Mum After Ho States No Trial in View

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department withheld comment today on a cable from North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh to the Columbia Broadcasting System declaring there is "no trial in view" for captured American airmen.

Red Regulars Fade in Jungle

Cong Guerrillas Hit 9 Outposts

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — North Vietnamese army regulars faded into the jungles near North Viet Nam's border today after mauling a U.S. Marine company in a blazing week-end fight. But the Viet Cong struck on the fringes of Saigon, blasting down a U.S. Air Force F100 jet fighter and attacking a string of government outposts.

Guerrilla groundfire brought down the jet 20 miles outside Saigon but U.S. military officials said the pilot was ejected and was recovered safely. It was the 118th U.S. Air Force plane lost in the South.

Hours earlier, the Viet Cong hit nine South Vietnamese outposts in a crescent south of the capital with machine gun and mortar fire. They also attacked a camp for Communist defectors 26 miles to the south, then withdrew after wounding several former comrades.

The wave of hit-and-run attacks south of Saigon was a Communist response to the large-scale ground and air operations elsewhere in the country by American, Korean and South Vietnamese troops.

In the far north just below the demilitarized zone, U.S. Marines continued to press into the rugged hills and deep jungles where 608 North Vietnamese regulars have been reported killed in an 11-day sweep.

The U.S. command in Saigon said the fighting had tapered off after rear-guard North Vietnamese troops inflicted heavy losses on a company of Marines. The enemy kept up harassing fire during the night but the bulk of the North Vietnamese 324B Division appeared to have evaded the Marine sweep by fleeing toward Laos.

An American spokesman in Saigon said the division had been badly chewed up.

The harried North Vietnamese regulars caught a rain of bombs this afternoon from high-altitude B52s. The Air Force said the B52 raid from Guam, the third in South Viet Nam today, hit a suspected regimental command post only two miles south of the 17th Parallel.

Eleven of 18 senators who signed a July 15 "plea for sanity" against further escalation of the Viet Nam war supported the fund reduction.

Only six sided with the administration and one did not vote. The 11 furnished the swing margin among 32 Democrats and 19 Republicans who handed the President a setback.

Although foreign aid is more vulnerable than some other programs, the President is on notice that trouble lies ahead in the field of international policy.

Arkansas Going to Polls After Heated Campaign

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A grueling two-month campaign ends Tuesday as seven men vie for the Democratic nomination for Arkansas governor in a primary in which the administration of Gov. Orval E. Faubus has been an issue.

Winthrop Rockefeller, brother of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is seeking the Republican gubernatorial nomination and is expected to be the man the GOP picks to oppose the Democratic winner in the November election.

With Faubus not a candidate for the first time since 1954, a runoff between the top two Democratic candidates seems assured. A candidate would need more than 50 per cent of the vote to escape a runoff Aug. 9. Polls reportedly show no candidate has more than 25 per cent.

About 400,000 of the state's 687,631 registered voters are expected to vote with about an eighth of the anticipated turnout voting in the GOP primary.

Faubus, who defeated Rockefeller two years ago in the state's first real interparty fight since Reconstruction, said he would not take part in the primary and he has made no public utterances for any candidate.

The big question has been whether the political organization that has backed Faubus for most of his 12 years in office is behind any candidate in this race.

Several candidates have charged that Frank Holt of Little Rock, a 55-year-old former attorney general and State Supreme Court justice, has machine backing. Holt has denied the charge.

Candidates Jim Johnson of Conway, Sam Boyce of Newport and Kenneth Sulcer of Osceola have broadened the machine talk to include Dale Alford, 50, an eye surgeon from Little Rock, and Brooks Hays, 67, a former congressman and adviser to Presidents John F. Kennedy and Johnson. They say the machine is backing Alford and Hays in case Holt can't win.

The seventh candidate is Raymond Rebsamen, 68, a Little Rock businessman and civic leader.

Rockefeller is opposed in the Republican primary by Gus McMillan of Sheridan, who ran for governor as a Democrat in 1954. Rockefeller says that Democrats put McMillan in the race to harass him.

News of World in Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Air Force says its recently launched balloon-shaped satellite inflated successfully before its plastic skin was disintegrated by the sun.

The skeleton, which remains in an orbit 630 miles above earth, is a grid of soft aluminum wire designed to reflect communications signals transmitted to it from one earth station to another.

The Air Force said laboratory tests of smaller grid spheres had proved that such structures returned signals five times stronger than those bounced back from solid balloon-type spacecraft.

KINSHASA, Leopoldville, The Congo (AP) — The "white rebellion" in Kisangani, Stanleyville, is practically over, the Congolese radio said today.

Congolese gendarmes from the former secessionist province of Katanga and hired white troops had rebelled against the Congolese national army. Fighting broke out Saturday between the two camps occupying opposite banks of the River Congo, apparently over delayed pay checks to the Katangans and the whites.

The Congolese news agency suggested that "certain Congolese and foreign elements" had withheld the men's pay "in order to provoke the discontent which led to the present situation."

Supermarket Planned Here

Circleville is getting another super market!

The Butt Construction Co., home-based at Chillicothe, has started work on land previously owned by Andrew Thomas, Route 3, for a Big Bear Super Market.

The new grocery center will be located on the east side of N Court St., directly across from Porter's Laundry. According to Alton Wyman, secretary-treasurer of the Butt firm, completion date for the building has been tentatively scheduled for late December.

The construction company purchased the land from Thomas. It will construct the building and lease it to Big Bear.

The new store will measure 125 by 132 feet. A huge parking lot also has been provided in the initial planning.

Booster Club Sets Eye on Grid Season

Circleville High School Booster Club will meet Wednesday to discuss plans for the coming football season.

The session will get under way at 8 p. m. at Noel's King Boy Restaurant, south on Route 23.

Newly elected officers will preside. They are William Thornton, president; Fred Davis, vice president; Mrs. Tillie Nelson, secretary; and Mrs. Waldo Martin, treasurer.

Final plans for a membership drive and a Back-to-School Dance will also be key items coming under discussion.

All persons interested in promoting athletic activities of Circleville High School are invited to attend the session as prospective members.

Boat Is Missing

Sherman Griffith, of near Darbyville, reported a boat was stolen from Darby Creek after 11 p. m. Friday.

A Navy A4 Skyhawk was brought down by conventional fire but the pilot parachuted into the Gulf of Tonkin and was picked up within 20 minutes. It was the 308th U.S. plane announced lost over North Viet Nam.

About 5,000 Marines are in the field just below the six-mile-wide demilitarized zone hunting la North Vietnamese division of 8,000 to 10,000 men. Several thousand South Vietnamese troops are backing up the Marines.

Capt. James M. Sims of Tacoma, Wash., intelligence officer for the 3rd Battalion, 5th Marines, said the jungle-covered hills were clearly a major infiltration route into the South and most of the Communists have skipped out of the area.

"The majority have gotten out to the west, toward the Laotian border," Sims said. "Those who didn't are completely confused as to which way to go. They are new to the area and probably have split up into company-sized units."

The battalion's India Company came under mortar and machine gun attacks at noon after the Marines had skirmished with four North Vietnamese killing one, wounding another and taking two prisoners. As the Leathernecks widened the search, they came under a blistering barrage. Marine jets tried to blast away the Communist positions in the jungle growth, some of it soaring up 90 feet but the bombs had little effect. One platoon of Marines took more than 50 per cent casualties.

On India's flank, another company of Marines promised help. "I'll be there to give you support no matter what happens," said the officer in charge of Kilo Company.

But as the men of Kilo hacked through the dense foliage, they hit in an ambush about 1,000 yards from India Company. Separated by nearly impenetrable jungle, the two Marine units fought it out separately with the Communists. Enemy fire riddled helicopters trying to land to bring out the wounded.

Progress Is Nil On Airport Plan

"No progress" seemed to be the outlook today in relation to efforts to secure an airport for this area.

Offering comments to this effect were Pickaway County Commissioners Lloyd Melvin and Charles Morris Jr. Solon Wayne Hines was absent from this morning's regular session due to the death of a brother-in-law.

A joint venture calling for an airport to serve both Pickaway and Ross Counties has bogged down during the past several weeks. According to the Pickaway legislators, unless a new approach on finding a site materializes before Aug. 1, the combined effort will be dissolved.

One recommended location just inside Pickaway County was rejected several days ago, with the high cost of leveling and grading listed as one of the main reasons. It was one of several sites studied at considerable length by an airport action group composed of both Pickaway and Ross representatives.

THE JOINT venture was further repulsed about a week ago when Chillicothe advanced the idea of promoting its own airport. The move apparently was sanctioned by Gov. James Rhodes who earlier had been in accord with the combined effort.

Commissioner Morris, all but ready to close the book on the joint program, said the only alternative now seems to be to follow a course that would provide Pickaway with its own air facility. He said every effort should be made in this direction, adding that this county is justly entitled to the $100,000 state assistance available.

Moving on to other business, the solons reviewed plans leading to next week's County Fair. They said there is every assurance required electrical work at buildings on the Fairgrounds will be completed before next Monday.

The commissioners said they planned to visit the Fairgrounds later today to check on progress.

A plat containing two tracts in Circleville Twp., submitted by Walter Tagg, was approved. The area, containing slightly more than two acres, is north of Circleville near Old Route 23.

Jean Mumaw was employed to work the two - week vacation period allotted to Chester Frazier, janitor at Memorial Hall.

A motion authorizing the Circleville Art League to use the Courthouse main floor during Pumpkin Show week was approved.

Stock Mart Prices Drift

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices deteriorated steadily in moderate trading early this afternoon.

At the opening prices were mixed but erosion quickly set in.

The loss was a continuation of last week's sinking spell and came despite a host of fine corporate earnings reports over the weekend.

Also adding to the good news background were reports of rising machine tool orders, increases in automobile sales and a report that factory inventories are unusually low in terms of sales, indicating a high rate of business activity.

The Associated Press 60 stock average was off 2.2 to 311.4 with industrials off 4.0, rails off .9 and utilities off .3.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon had slumped 9.02 to 860.13.

Racial Housing Controls Are Debated in House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House takes up a highly controversial civil rights bill today with its members in an uneasy mood due to racial violence in some Northern cities.

The bill would arm the government with several new weapons to combat racial discrimination, but nearly all the controversy surrounds a proposal aimed at improving housing opportunities for Negroes.

Although it is much milder than the outright ban on discrimination in housing the administration requested, and would leave most individually owned residential homes untouched, the provision has been bitterly attacked, particularly in the North.

A quick test comes when the House votes after an hour's debate whether it actually wants to consider the bill. If it does, a week of debate is in prospect.

This is the first of the five civil rights bills Congress has considered in the last 10 years that would have a major impact on the North. As a result it has much less support than its predecessors.

Further clouding its chances is widespread confusion among members over the actual effect of the housing provision, adopted as a compromise by the Judiciary Committee.

Aimed mainly at real estate agents, builders and others in the business of selling or renting housing, the provision exempts homeowners if they engage in no more than two real estate transactions in a year.

Its author, Rep. Charles M. Mathias Jr., R-Md., says a real estate agent acting on behalf of an exempt owner also would be exempt.

But many others, including Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, real estate lobbyists and civil rights leaders, disagree. They say the language is unclear, that a homeowner appears to be exempt only if he sells or rents his house himself without using an agent, and that agents are not exempt under any circumstances.

Mathias is willing to have clarifying language added to carry out his intent, but civil rights groups oppose such a change as further weakening of an already watered-down provision.

5 Hurt in 3-Car Collision At Leistville Intersection

Five persons were injured, one seriously, in a three - car accident 1:18 p. m. Saturday at Routes 56 and 159.

Mrs. Ernest (Marie) Mueller, 62, Sugar Creek, was listed in "fair" condition today in University Hospital, Columbus. She suffered a fractured right leg, fractured pelvic bone, possible fracture of the skull, internal injuries and lacerations and abrasions.

Mrs. Mueller was a passenger in a car driven by her husband.

The Mueller car was northbound on Route 159. Sheriff's officials said he did not stop at the junction of the two routes and collided with cars driven by Elmer Butterbaugh, 40, of 1201 Turner Drive, headed toward Laurelville, and Merl E. McNichols, 23, Laurelville, headed toward Circleville.

All three cars, extensively damaged, reached the intersection at approximately the same time, officers said.

Mueller told Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff he saw the red light but did not realize he had to stop. He said he did not see the other cars.

Mueller was treated and released at Berger Hospital's Emergency Room. Butterbaugh and Carolyn Hill, 25, a passenger in Butterbaugh's auto, also were treated there.

Leora Osborne, 32, a passenger in the car driven by McNichols, was taken to University Hospital.

Mueller was cited to appear in Circleville Municipal Court for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Entering a plea of no contest to the charges, he was fined $50 and costs by Municipal Court Judge Sterling M. Lamb.

Progress Is Nil On Airport Plan

"No progress" seemed to be the outlook today in relation to efforts to secure an airport for this area.

Offering comments to this effect were Pickaway County Commissioners Lloyd Melvin and Charles Morris Jr. Solon Wayne Hines was absent from this morning's regular session due to the death of a brother-in-law.

A joint venture calling for an airport to serve both Pickaway and Ross Counties has bogged down during the past several weeks. According to the Pickaway legislators, unless a new approach on finding a site materializes before Aug. 1, the combined effort will be dissolved.

One recommended location just inside Pickaway County was rejected several days ago, with the high cost of leveling and grading listed as one of the main reasons. It was one of several sites studied at considerable length by an airport action group composed of both Pickaway and Ross representatives.

THE JOINT venture was further repulsed about a week ago when Chillicothe advanced the idea of promoting its own airport. The move apparently was sanctioned by Gov. James Rhodes who earlier had been in accord with the combined effort.

Commissioner Morris, all but ready to close the book on the joint program, said the only alternative now seems to be to follow a course that would provide Pickaway with its own air facility. He said every effort should be made in this direction, adding that this county is justly entitled to the $100,000 state assistance available.

Moving on to other business, the solons reviewed plans leading to next week's County Fair. They said there is every assurance required electrical work at buildings on the Fairgrounds will be completed before next Monday.

The commissioners said they planned to visit the Fairgrounds later today to check on progress.

A plat containing two tracts in Circleville Twp., submitted by Walter Tagg, was approved. The area, containing slightly more than two acres, is north of Circleville near Old Route 23.

Jean Mumaw was employed to work the two-week vacation period allotted to Chester Frazier, janitor at Memorial Hall.

A motion authorizing the Circleville Art League to use the Courthouse main floor during Pumpkin Show week was approved.

Stock Mart Prices Drift

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices deteriorated steadily in moderate trading early this afternoon.

At the opening prices were mixed but erosion quickly set in.

The loss was a continuation of last week's sinking spell and came despite a host of fine corporate earnings reports over the weekend.

Also adding to the good news background were reports of rising machine tool orders, increases in automobile sales and a report that factory inventories are unusually low in terms of sales, indicating a high rate of business activity.

The Associated Press 60 stock average was off 2.2 to 311.4 with industrials off 4.0, rails off .9 and utilities off .3.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon had slumped 9.02 to 860.13.

Racial Housing Controls Are Debated in House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House takes up a highly controversial civil rights bill today with its members in an uneasy mood due to racial violence in some Northern cities.

The bill would arm the government with several new weapons to combat racial discrimination, but nearly all the controversy surrounds a proposal aimed at improving housing opportunities for Negroes.

Although it is much milder than the outright ban on discrimination in housing the administration requested, and would leave most individually owned residential homes untouched, the provision has been bitterly attacked, particularly in the North.

A quick test comes when the House votes after an hour's debate whether it actually wants to consider the bill. If it does, a week of debate is in prospect.

This is the first of the five civil rights bills Congress has considered in the last 10 years that would have a major impact on the North. As a result it has much less support than its predecessors.

Further clouding its chances is widespread confusion among members over the actual effect of the housing provision, adopted as a compromise by the Judiciary Committee.

Aimed mainly at real estate agents, builders and others in the business of selling or renting homes, the provision exempts homeowners if they engage in no more than two real estate transactions in a year.

Its author, Rep. Charles M. Mathias Jr., R-Md., says a real estate agent acting on behalf of an exempt owner also would be exempt.

But many others, including Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, real estate lobbyists and civil rights leaders, disagree. They say the language is unclear, that a homeowner appears to be exempt only if he sells or rents his house himself without using an agent, and that agents are not exempt under any circumstances.

Mathias is willing to have clarifying language added to carry out his intent, but civil rights groups oppose such a change as further weakening of an already watered-down provision.

5 Hurt in 3-Car Collision At Leistville Intersection

Five persons were injured, one seriously, in a three-car accident 1:18 p. m. Saturday at Routes 56 and 159.

Mrs. Ernest (Marie) Mueller, 62, Sugar Creek, was listed in "fair" condition today in University Hospital, Columbus. She suffered a fractured right leg, fractured pelvic bone, possible fracture of the skull, internal injuries and lacerations and abrasions.

Mrs. Mueller was a passenger in a car driven by her husband.

The Mueller car was northbound on Route 159. Sheriff's officials said he did not stop at the junction of the two routes and collided with cars driven by Elmer Butterbaugh, 40, of 1201 Turner Drive, headed toward Laurelville, and Merl E. McNichols, 23, Laurelville, headed toward Circleville.

All three cars, extensively damaged, reached the intersection at approximately the same time, officers said.

Mueller told Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff he saw the red light but did not realize he had to stop. He said he did not see the other cars.

Mueller was treated and released at Berger Hospital's Emergency Room. Butterbaugh and Carolyn Hill, 25, a passenger in Butterbaugh's auto, also were treated there.

Leora Osborne, 32, a passenger in the car driven by McNichols, was taken to University Hospital.

Mueller was cited to appear in Circleville Municipal court for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Entering a plea of no contest to the charges, he was fined $50 and costs by Municipal Court Judge Sterling M. Lamb.

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the threat of inflation looming over both the United States and Britain, President Johnson and Prime Minister Harold Wilson have set contrasting courses. Johnson, for the moment, is relying mostly on his power of persuasion. Wilson, largely, is using his administrative power to put into effect a severe austerity program designed to rescue the pound.

The differing approaches point up the different mechanisms of government in the United States and Britain. They suggest that in the case of inflation, at least, the British parliamentary system may be more readily geared to swift action. In Britain, as in the United States, tax measures eventually need legislative approval. But Wilson is in position to take several strong anti-inflation steps — such as cutting down the amount of money travelers could take abroad and ordering stiffer installment-buying requirements — by administrative action. While Parliaments approval is needed for some parts of the Wilson program and while Parliament can eventually tinker with some aspects, to thoroughly uproot the program would almost necessarily require a vote of "no confidence" and the government's downfall. Thus fellow Laborites who may disagree with Wilson on major points would be inclined to swallow their differences lest they help bring down their own Labor government.

If Johnson were to favor a program similar to Wilson's — there is no indication that he does — he would have to rely heavily on congressional approval. Though the Democrats hold a commanding edge in both the Senate and the House, his problems would be infinitely more complicated than Wilson's. While Wilson is a member of Parliament, the American presidency is essentially a separate institution. Except during severe emergency, such as full-scale war, the President's hold on Congress is tenuous and party loyalty a sometimes thing.

Traditionally jealous of its powers, Congress could give the President what he asked, quite a bit less or nothing at all. About all Johnson, or any president, could do would be to veto legislation he disapproved of and appeal the electorate to elect a Congress more in tune with his way of thinking. Such appeals have had mixed results in the past. Complicating Johnson's joust the war in Viet Nam. Amid the inflationary heating up, the administration was asking labor to hold its wage demands within the 3.2 per cent pattern set down four years ago and appealing to industry to hold the price line. The White House guidelines had considerable effect on wage demands — until prices and living costs climbed steadily. Of late, organized labor often has been reluctant to go along with the guidelines. The appeal to hold down prices, meanwhile had only limited success. Last week the President appealed to Congress to hold down federal spending for domestic programs to his own recommendations. While only time will tell if he succeeds here, Congress' independence is manifest in estimates it will go its own way and increase his budget by perhaps $3 billion.

Tractor Pullers Hold 2-Day Event at County Fairgrounds

The Central Ohio Tractor Pulling Club held its first major pull of the season during the weekend with events scheduled Saturday and Sunday at the Pickaway County Fair.

The Sunday pull was the qualification event for the Ohio State Fair. Six drivers in each class qualified. Here are the first four winners of each event Sunday:

4,500-pound class—Steve Rittinger, George Miller Jr., Bill Trapp, Russ McFarland. 6,500-pound class—Wheeler Rittinger, Larry Schlosser, Steve Rittinger, Mike McKinney.

10,000-pound class—Daryl Schlosser, Larry Martin, Dave McKernan, Dave Harbage. 12,000-pound class—Dave Harbage, Larry Schlosser, Larry Martin, Henry Beechey.

There were a total of 41 entries Sunday.

On Saturday, four men tied for first in the 4,500 pound class. They were Herb Miller, George Miller, Mike Rittinger, Steve Rittinger. In the 6,500 pound class, Wheeler and Steve Rittinger won all the money. Wheeler placed first and third and Steve second and fourth.

The 10,000 pound class was won by Lloyd Yoder. Second was Henry Beachy, Paul Goffrey was third and Daryl Schlosser was fourth.

The 12,000 pound class was rained out.

The Central Ohio Tractor Pulling Club sponsors the tractor pulling events at the Pickaway County Fair on Monday and Tuesday of fair week.

Historical Society Meets Challenge of Preservation

History has been recorded by word of mouth, depicted on the walls of caves, notched on trees, and carved on buildings and stones. Down through the ages, without the vigilance of historical recorders and societies, much colorful and rich heritage would have been lost.

Such vigilance and care in preserving both Pickaway County history and items connected with it, is the aim of the Historical Society in maintaining its museum in the old Second National Bank building on W. Main St.

Admission is free and open to the public 2-5 p. m. and 6-8 p. m. on Fridays and 2-5 p. m. on Saturdays.

A visit there is interesting, whimsical, thought provoking and awe inspiring. It is hard to imagine that many of the displayed items are handmade the detail is so fine and it is interesting to note some of the materials used.

RECENT acquisitions by the society are a "vallick," which is an ironer donated by Mrs. Moses Block. She came to America from Russia as a child and the "vallick" was brought by a member of her family.

The ironer looks like a rolling pin and a long corrugated or notched piece of wood. A cloth or towel was wrapped around the rolling pin and then rolled back and forth by using the notched or corrugated board to press the article.

Mrs. Block also donated a dresser scarf, apron and child's blouse.

Miss Jeanette Reichelderfer, N. Court St., has given a surveyor's compass of extremely fine workmanship. In memory of Mrs. Virginia Groom, Ned Groom has presented the society with several beautiful ladies' fans including one ostrich fan and one of silk embroidered with sequins.

A collection of fine laces of intricate design and fine texture has been given by Mrs. Walter Kindler. Mrs. Voss Blake and daughter have given an old fireplace shovel and strainer.

Harry Roese of South Bloomfield contributed a draw knife from South Bloomfield's Copper Shop and one of 40 ball bearings used in the bridge turnstile across the canal at Middleport.

MRS. CLARENCE Baum of Ashville has donated a shoe cobbler's set of tools and other items.

An old apple basket was given by Mrs. Dwight Steele. The basket, which is big enough for only one apple, was carried to school each day in the 1860's by Mrs. Clark Denman.

These and many other interesting items can be seen at the museum where an ever changing collection is featured.

Donations of historical articles are welcomed by the society. Much attention is given to their preservation and display for the enjoyment of the entire county.

Once upon a time the approved way to make a fortune, or to protect whatever money you had already accumulated, was to take out a position in something solid. The trick was to be with J. P. Morgan when he put together his steel combine, or to float upwards on a sea of oil with John D. Rockefeller, or to guess right with Bernard Baruch in exploiting a cheaper way of mining copper. It was generally agreed in the bad old days that the fundamental wealth of the country derived from riches in or on the ground. You had to be able to see it and touch it to be sure you had an investment worth the making.

But today? I admit to being staggered when my daughter and son-in-law, who haven't much money to play with, announced they had made a small market killing in something that would have seemed merest moonshine to old J. P. Morgan. They had gone to their broker, a member of their own generation, to explain that they needed a couple of hundred bucks to help pay for a new baby. Their broker friend began to talk about something that came with bubble gum. In former years bubble gum brought you baseball cards. But now the rage, in the youngest generation, is for cards labeled "Riddler Robs a Rainbow" or "Penned by the Penguin," or "Fangs of the Phantom," or "Neanderthal Nemesis." In brief, the big thing, the "in" thing in juvenile cards is Batman.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — Some of the things that are going up are working the economy watchers as much as the things that aren't going up.

Rising are: prices, wages, profits, defense spending, business capital spending, inventories.

Dipping or leveling off are: auto buying, housing starts, consumer credit demand, new factory orders for durable goods, and possibly productivity and profit margins.

What's worrying economists is that the rising factors, although bearing the fruits of current prosperity, also carry seeds of future trouble.

Increased prices and rising wage demands are the factors most visible to the general public. Prices have risen much faster this year than during the relatively stable early years of this decade. Wage demands have led to some notable pay roll boosts that have meant higher prices or fees or fares and to some crippling strikes this year.

But next year will see a much larger volume of workers involved in wage negotiations.

Batman is big elsewhere, with the adults, because he is "Camp." Absurdly, this is the wealth of America today insofar as a real market caper is concerned. My daughter and her husband took a mild flier, against the general drift of the market, in something called National Periodicals Publications, Inc., which owns the Batman and Robin copyrights, and came out of it shortly with a capital gain sufficient to pay for a crib, a playpen and few teething rings. As for Uncle Sam, he is necessarily cut in for fifty per cent of the short-term deal, a cut which will enable him to buy a few bullets for Vietnam. Life and death!

Part of me approved the young couple's shrewdness in beating the inflation as it affects the cost of bringing a newborn babe into a cockeyed world. The rest of me bemoaned what is happening to our national sense of values.

The point would seem to be that this is no longer a world for long-sighted investors who like to think of themselves as builders of the fundamental wealth of a solid country. Steel plants are still needed, but what is the use of investing in rolling mills and wire-drawing equipment when Secretary of Defense McNamara can control metal prices by a mere threat to withhold the patronage of government contracts? Why seek a "store of value" in aluminum when the federal stockpile hangs heavily over the head of Alcoa? Why buy involved in wage negotiations. And this year's jump in the cost of living is inspiring many unions to prepare much stiffer wage demands.

Profits have soared to records this year. This, too, affects both future wage demands and price trends — and possibly greater government involvement.

All this adds up to problems ahead and takes some of the sheen off the reports of price, wage and profit gains that have played a key role in pushing the economy into new heights of affluence.

The steady rise in defense spending is one of the big props of the economy just now, offsetting to large degree the decline in auto buying and home building. But the authorities expect defense spending to rise still more in the months ahead.

Business spending for new plants and equipment is counted upon to help keep the economy

NYC Officials Smiling After Jet Train Tests

BRYAN, Ohio (AP) — The "Megtrans" may be around to stay.

It flashed across the countryside Sunday at breath taking speed, this jet-propelled experimental prototype, in concluding its initial tests by the New York Central System.

From all outward appearances, the runs from Butler, Ind., to Bryan were a big success. The NYC, when it's ready to talk about the "black beetle," as onlookers dubbed it, may have an announcement of major significance.

As the tests drew to a close, railroad officials looked satisfied.

"We're smiling," said one in answer to questions about how the tests had gone. "In fact, we're very happy about the results."

Officials have promised a news conference in New York City sometime this week.

Lay observers estimated the vehicle's speed on its final run at anywhere from 140 to 225 miles per hour.

"Megtrans" is short for megapolis transportation—a megapolis being a heavily populated stretch in which one metropolitan cluster of city and suburbs virtually adjoins another.

If the jet railroad car can move at such high speed, safely and smoothly, it could herald a new era in railroad commuting.

The twin jet engines on the roof of the sleek experimental car with scoop nose and eye-like windows emitted an "almost deafening, whining sound," according to witnesses.

The ground trembled and clouds of smoke and dust were blasted into the air as the car screamed its way along the tracks, observers said.

The car was towed backward to Butler four times—twice Saturday, twice Sunday—Then loosed like a missile toward Bryan, 17 miles distant.

Hundreds of spectators watched.

Radio-equipped cars and walkie-talkies crackled back reports on its progress, and several small aircraft paced the car as it sped along the test course tracks.

The 225-m.p.h. estimate came from men in one of the aircraft, a helicopter from a Ft. Wayne, Ind., television station.

into molybdenum, or copper, or other tangible elements when it is LBJ, not the market, that has the last word?

Maybe the new order has its compensations. One cannot imagine J.P. Morgan ever putting together an ingenuity trust, nor can one visualize John D. Rockefeller trying to effect a corner on the market for dreams.

Judge Gary and Charlie Schwab could tell old J. P. just what the ore reserves of Minnesota and Michigan amounted to, and where the bridge girder capacity of the nation was situated. But who knows what Batman will be doing next month, or whether the juvenile market for bubble gum cards will gravitate from Batman and Robin to professional football stars? Conspiracies in restraint of trade just don't seem to go with selling "Pow" and "Biff" to the multitudes. You get in quickly with the Riddler, the Joker, the Penguin or the Cat Woman, or you don't get in at all.

The lesson is that if you can't live by the solid stuff that is mined from the ground, you can survive by using your wits. If there's no money in rolling mills, there's a $75,000,000 market in Batman products for those who guess right. It once had an epic ring when you mentioned the mineral wealth of America. The Weyerhaeusers made money out of tall timber and Mr. Campbell got rich on tomato soup. But the big thing today is Moonshine, Inc. Get aboard, friends, get aboard!

at near boom proportions. But it carries the same worrisome possibilities as does rising defense spending — the threat of overheating, material and labor shortages, and pressure on prices and wages.

Inventories may seem dull to the general public but they tell a tale to business executives that can't be ignored. Right now stocks on hand have started to rise faster than corporate sales. This accumulation of materials and goods is helping to push the over-all economic statistics to new highs.

But if sales should really falter, businessmen might start canceling new orders and turn to living off their stockpiles.

Thus, the very exuberance of the most glittering economic factors causes many businessmen to cross their fingers, and many stock traders to take to the sidelines.

NYC Officials Smiling After Jet Train Tests

"That thing really moves out," one onlooker said. "You better believe it," added another.

The vehicle made its runs on what was described as standard railroad track with gravel added to keep the rails and ties in place. Special electronic measuring equipment was strung along the route while crossings and bridges in its path were blocked off.

The car's interior was described as having a small passenger section in front and a control section with three seats for the "drivers, engineers, or pilots, whatever you call them."

Witnesses said the drivers wore outfits resembling flight suits and had helmets like jet aircraft pilots with NYC emblems across the front.

Village Festival Staged To Pacify Vietnamese

PHU LOI, South Viet Nam (AP) — An Army band played popular tunes from a makeshift stage and the audience of women and children clapped in rhythm.

At the rear of a truck, another group of women jostled one another to receive free clothing. In a nearby tent, other women shouted numbers on a lottery for such prizes as sewing kits and food packages.

This was the Thuan Giao village festival, organized by the U.S. 1st Infantry Division and Vietnamese 5th Division. But only women, children and old men were present. Their attendance was compulsory.

The men of the village, between the ages of 15 and 45, was several blocks away at the schoolhouse, awaiting interrogation to determine if they were Viet Cong guerrillas.

The festival was part of Project Lamson II — the pacification program being conducted in towns and villages around Phu Loi.

Spearheading the project is a task force of young American officers working out of the 1st Division's artillery headquarters at Phu Loi, 20 miles north-east of Saigon.

Some 30,000 persons live inside the 20-square mile area chosen for Lamson II. In the first four "festivals" held, the results were: 7 Viet Cong killed and 34 captured; 23 former Viet Cong detained; 7 army deserters and 193 draft-dodgers arrested; 11 false identification cards confiscated; and 295 men held for further questioning.

The American and Vietnamese troops also served 12,000 free meals and distributed 3,000 four-pound sacks of rice, 4 million propaganda leaflets and magazines. Medical-dental teams treated nearly 5,000 patients.

"The biggest result, however, has been that now when we drive through these villages the people smile and wave," said Capt. Roy Davis of Tacoma, Wash. "When we first got here even the children wouldn't smile. Now they feel more secure. We have to convince them that we will stay here and they will be safe."

The first step in an Army-style village festival is to seal off the village the night before to keep guerrillas from escaping. At dawn, Vietnamese soldiers move through the village, house by house, gathering the men for questioning and searching for weapons.

The other residents are sent to the festival site where Army tents are set up for the entertainment and meals.

The American task force working on Lamson II considers Tan Phuoc Khan village to be its biggest success so far.

As the troops surrounded the village, several Viet Cong tried to flee. Two were killed, including the village's guerrilla chief. A 15-year-old girl led a search party to a tunnel where eight Viet Cong were found.

The one-day festival is just the beginning, however. "We have to go back as often as possible to prove that we are going to stay," Davis said.

Cause of Headaches Usually Not in Head

DR. HERMAN H. SHUTTLEWORTH Chiropractor

In the current issue of Today's Health, a publication of the AMA, Dr. Adrian M. Ostfeld of the University of Illinois College of Medicine says about 95% of headaches do not originate in the head, but result from conditions elsewhere in the body.

"The headache is probably the result of a release of 'pain substance' from nerve ends in the scalp, at the same time that arteries in the head have become dilated due to one 'cause' or another," he said. This sounds much like excerpts from a chiropractic textbook. For over sixty-four years chiropractic has taught that headaches nearly always result from nerve interference and related cerebrospinal pressures — and that's the 'cause' referred to above.

Dr. Ostfeld pointed out that, "Unpleasant as they are, headaches serve as an important warning signal of both mental and physical problems." He further explained, "Oddly enough, acetylsalicylate, aspirin, is an old standby, but we are still not exactly sure what it does do."

Chiropractors know what to do for most headaches. Statistics from the Swartz Research Report of the National Chiropractic Association show that out of 1641 non-migraine headaches studied under chiropractic care, 83.2% recovered or greatly improved, 11.1% slightly improved, 5.1% same, .6% worse. Of 210 migraine cases studied, 86.6% recovered or greatly improved, 8.1% slightly improved, 2.9% same, 2.4% worse. The following case from our files is now among the fortunate 80% that get well.

This attractive 44 year old business-woman suffered with violent headaches and severe tension pains in back of her head, down into her neck and between her shoulders. For two long, miserable years she made all the rounds and took "pounds" of pain killers and tranquilizers, etc. Steadily, she grew worse until it interfered with her business. "I had so much congestion in my head and eyes, it blurred my vision," she said. Her blood pressure was 160/98. One of her employees, a chiropractic patient, brought her to a chiropractor. Spinal analysis located areas of severe nerve interference at both the top and bottom of her spine. X-Rays enabled up to realign the offending vertebral displacements and her violent headaches and tension pains gradually, but naturally vanished. Her blood pressure returned to normal.

Nerves connect to every organ and are responsible for many malfunctions, including headaches. If you are still suffering in spite of your efforts, investigate! It only takes a few minutes to see what nerve disturbances are causing your headaches.

Moonbeam Road to Riches

Once upon a time the approved way to make a fortune, or to protect whatever money you had already accumulated, was to take out a position in something solid. The trick was to be with J. P. Morgan when he put together his steel combine, or to float upwards on a sea of oil with John D. Rockefeller, or to guess right with Bernard Baruch in exploiting a cheaper way of mining copper. It was generally agreed in the bad old days that the fundamental wealth of the country derived from riches in or on the ground. You had to be able to see it and touch it to be sure you had an investment worth the making.

But today? I admit to being staggered when my daughter and son-in-law, who haven't much money to play with, announced they had made a small market killing in something that would have seemed merest moonshine to old J. P. Morgan. They had gone to their own generation, to explain that they needed a couple of hundred bucks to help pay for a new baby. Their broker friend began to talk about something that came with bubble gum. In former years bubble gum brought you baseball cards. But now the rage, in the youngest generation, is for cards labeled "Riddler Robs a Rainbow" or "Penny the Penguin," or "Fangs of the Phantom," or "Neanderthal Nemeses." In brief, the big thing, the "in" thing in juvenile cards is Batman.

Batman is big elsewhere, with the adults, because he is "Camp." Absurdly, this is the wealth of America today insofar as a real market caper is concerned. My daughter and her husband took a mild flier, against the general drift of the market, in something called National Periodicals Publications, Inc., which owns the Batman and Robin copyrights, and came out of it shortly with a capital gain sufficient to pay for a crib, a playpen and a few teething rings. What value, if any, is there to the use of leeches for inflammation of the veins of the legs?

Leeches are still used with remarkable success for a variety of conditions. Originally, leeches were used before modern medicine had created anti-coagulant drugs. The basic ingredient in leeches was found to be the blood thinner heparin.

This was injected by the leech into the vein and thus helped to reduce inflammation. Leeches are an excellent example of the thousands of homemade and tribal remedies which have been proven valuable in the treatment of many conditions.

Most backaches are caused by improper lifting, poor posture, fatigue and strain.

In the first four "festivals" held, the results were: 7 Viet Cong killed and 34 captured; 23 former Viet Cong detained; 7 army deserters and 193 draft-dodgers arrested; 11 false identification cards confiscated; and 295 men held for further questioning.

The American and Vietnamese troops also served 12,000 free meals and distributed 3,000 four-pound sacks of rice, 4 million propaganda leaflets and magazines. Medical-dental teams treated nearly 5,000 patients.

"The biggest result, however, has been that now when we drive through these villages the people smile and wave," said Capt. Roy Davis of Tacoma, Wash. "When we first got here even the children wouldn't smile. Now they feel more secure. We have to convince them that we will stay here and they will be safe."

The first step in an Army-style village festival is to seal off the village the night before to keep guerrillas from escaping. At dawn, Vietnamese soldiers move through the village, house by house, gathering the men for questioning and searching for weapons.

The other residents are sent to the festival site where Army tents are set up for the entertainment and meals.

The American task force working on Lamson II considers Tan Phuoc Khan village to be its biggest success so far.

As the troops surrounded the village, several Viet Cong tried to flee. Two were killed, including the village's guerrilla chief. A 15-year-old girl led a search party to a tunnel where eight Viet Cong were found.

The one-day festival is just the beginning, however. "We have to go back as often as possible to prove that we are going to stay," Davis said.

No Lag Seen In Steel Output

Record Annual Production Slated

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steel production in the second half of 1966 is expected to about equal the 68 million tons of ingots and castings poured in the first half, which would boost production for the year to a record 135 million tons, Steel Magazine said today.

This would top by four million tons the 1965 record of 131 million. Last year, output totaled 70.6 million tons in the first half, when production was spurred by strike hedging, but dropped to 60.5 million tons in the second half, Steel noted.

Production was estimated at 1,460,000 net tons for the week ended July 23.

The steel industry has been in a gradual slowdown since mid-May, but a resumption of ordering by auto makers "could tighten availability of steel almost overnight," the weekly trade publication said.

"Meanwhile, the automobile industry is projecting a record high rate of assemblies in September—703,000 passenger cars, 43 per cent over the 491,491 units turned out last September and 22.7 per cent over the record for the month, 572,846 cars in 1964."

Auto sales over the next few weeks will determine whether the September projection can be maintained, the metalworking weekly added.

Steel's price composite on No. 1 melting steel scrap held steady for the third straight week at $30.17 a gross ton.

Your Health Through Chiropractic

Cause of Headaches Usually Not in Head

DR. HERMAN H. SHUTTLEWORTH
Chiropractor

In the current issue of Today's Health, a publication of the AMA, Dr. Adrian M. Ostfeld of the University of Illinois College of Medicine says about 95% of headaches do not originate in the head, but result from conditions elsewhere in the body.

"The headache is probably the result of a release of 'pain substance' from nerve ends in the scalp, at the same time that arteries in the head have become dilated due to one 'cause' or another," he said. This sounds much like excerpts from a chiropractic textbook. For over sixty-four years chiropractic has taught that headaches nearly always result from nerve interference and related cerebrospinal pressures — and that's the 'cause' referred to above.

Dr. Ostfeld pointed out that, "Unpleasant as they are, headaches serve as an important warning signal of both mental and physical problems." He further explained, "Oddly enough, acetylsalicylate, aspirin, is an old standby, but we are still not exactly sure what it does."

Chiropractors know what to do for most headaches. Statistics from the Swartz Research Report of the National Chiropractic Association show that out of 1641 non-migraine headaches studied under chiropractic care, 83.2% recovered or greatly improved, 11.1% slightly improved, 5.1% same, .6% worse. Of 210 migraine cases studied, 86.6% recovered or greatly improved, 8.1% slightly improved, 2.9% same, 2.4% worse. The following case from our files is now among the fortunate 80% that get well.

This attractive 44 year old business-woman suffered with violent headaches and severe tension pains in back of her head, down her neck and between her shoulders. For two long, miserable years she made all the rounds and took "pounds" of pain killers and tranquilizers, etc. Steadily, she grew worse until it interfered with her business. "I had so much congestion in my head and eyes, it blurred my vision," she said. Her blood pressure was 160/98. One of her employees, a chiropractic patient, brought her to a chiropractor. Spinal analysis located areas of severe nerve interference at both the top and bottom of her spine. X-Rays enabled us to see what nerve disturbances were causing your headaches.

Nerves connect to every organ and are responsible for many malfunctions, including headaches. If you are still suffering in spite of your efforts, investigate! It only takes a few minutes to see what nerve disturbances are causing your headaches.

Presented in the public interest for better health through chiropractic.

New Holland Highway Work Near Completion

The widening of Route 22 through the village of New Holland is expected to be completed by Aug. 10, 21 days ahead of schedule.

The new bridge over Mud Run has been opened to traffic.

Work remaining includes removing the detour bridge, some ditching, seeding and sodding along the highway, sidewalk, curbing and driveway completion.

Work on the project started Sept. 15, 1965.

Actor Says He's Bushed From Working on Movie

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Steve McQueen's hooded eyes seemed more at half-mast than usual.

"I don't mind telling you, I'm beat," he said. "The thing I'd like most to do right now is go to sleep for 20 hours."

Instead, he was faced with an afternoon's strenuous work on "The Sand Pebbles," which has turned into more of a career for him than a movie. The film is now in its third month of over-time.

McQueen's fatigue was more than that of the usual weariness of a star at the end of a long film. He spent five months in Taiwan and Hong Kong, working a seveday week. His time off consisted of one Sunday.

Upon his return to the Fox lot, he was stricken by the bug that afflicted most of the company members. He hasn't recovered yet. If he can hold on for another fortnight, he'll be finished with "The Sand Pebbles." And then?

Then I am going to load my wife and two kids into the camper, fill up the gas tanks and head north," he resolved. "I'm not going to stop until I get to Alaska. And I won't come back until the money runs out."

He enjoys his position as one of the 10 or 12 stars who can virtually write their own deals with the film studios. Yet the whole thing isn't as munificent as it seems, he said.

"If I work on a salary, that's a 70-30 deal — 70 per cent for the government, 30 for me," he commented. "On a corporation basis it's 52-48. But that's just the beginning. I've also got agents to pay, and press agents, a business office, etc."

"It doesn't seem quite right to be paying so much in taxes when I've only got five or six years to make big money. Oh, maybe I'll be really lucky and be another Jimmy Stewart — last 20 years or more. But it isn't likely. Three bad pictures and they start giving me smaller dressing rooms."

Workmen at Hospital Discover Cat, Kittens

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Workmen building the new student nurses residence for Memorial Hospital heard a faint mewling sound in the walls.

All work was stopped, a concrete block was removed from a wall and a mother cat and her newborn kittens were removed to safety. Then work resumed.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Neighbor Needs Music Lesson

DEAR ABBY: We recently purchased a very nice home in what we thought was a quiet, refined neighborhood. Shortly after moving in, we discovered that our next door neighbor had decorated the trees in her yard, as well as her porch, with "wind chimes."

They are little brass bells, ceramic discs, wooden clankers and glass do-dads—supposedly "musical" noise makers.

The slightest little breeze sets these things knocking against each other and creating the damndest clanging, ringing, tinkling racket you have ever heard. Now we don't want to make enemies of our neighbors right off the bat, but we would like them to know that we do not care for this kind of racket. Or is that music?

ANTI-CHIMES

DEAR ANTI: One man's racket is another man's Rachmaninoff. Invite her over for coffee and ask her if she read DEAR ABBY today.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 24-year-old divorcee with a 7-year-old child. For the last two years I have been keeping house for a divorced man who has four children. I live in and can keep my child with me. I fell in love with this man and things went farther than they should. Sometimes he acts like he loves me, but other times he slaps me around.

He also brings other women to the house and asks me to wait on them. This just about kills me. I can't leave because I have nowhere to go. The pay is good here and no one else would hire a woman with a child. How can I win this man over to marry me? I've never had it so good.

DESPERATE

DEAR DESPERATE: What's so "good" about living with a man who "slaps you around" and asks you to wait on his lady friends? There are other jobs available if you will LOOK for them. Look in your local newspaper for HELP WANTED. Try the employment agencies. It's my view that you could hardly have it worse.

DEAR ABBY: MOTHER OF TWINS could just as well have signed her name. Everyone around here knew who she was anyway. She made such a big commotion about mothers sending their kids to a birthday party given by a pair of twins, with only one gift, "for the twins."

Ask her if, when she sends HER twins to a birthday party, each twin brings a separate gift. Or do they both bring one, and put in a card saying, "FROM THE TWINS?"

Destitute Ducks Society Begs for Chicken Feed

DEMAREST, N.J. (AP) — The ducks of Demarest are sitting pretty. They have all that any duck would want, plus their own bank account.

The ducks haven't always had it so good. In fact, when they first were noticed in Demarest their food situation was critical. But under the leadership of former Mayor Donald Bogert, the Society for the Preservation of Destitute Ducks was formed to see that the birds got food, particularly during the winter.

When the society's request for funds was turned down by the City Council — the group asked for private contributions. Members even went door to door seeking the $400 a year necessary.

The council continued to refuse to allot money to feed the ducks until this year when the city fathers set aside $300. Since this is shy of the total needed, more private fund raising will be done.

The ducks became a problem five years ago when people began leaving birds by a stream in the North Jersey suburban community. Nobody knows why the ducks were left, but one theory is that someone left one that was an unwanted pet and others followed the lead.

No one seems to object to using tax money to feed ducks, and, as city employee Ed Miller says, "That's the only way they're going to get food."

Another who approves of the food program is 15-year-old Mary Halloran. "There's not much recreation around here, especially for the little kids. They get a big kick out of coming here and feeding the birds."

Mayor Joe Rinkelstein doesn't voice any objections, except to say: "I'm not a duck fancier, except when it's on a platter with gravy and potatoes."

2 Survive Being Struck By Lightning

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two persons survived after being struck by lightning Sunday night as summer electrical storms swept across parts of northern Ohio, giving the area its most rain in nearly three months.

A golfer was hit by a bolt of lightning on the Olmsted Township course in suburban Cleveland but hospital attendants said the victim, William Jump, 24, of Parma, was not hurt seriously.

At Port Clinton, Brenda Mattox, 16, was struck while on a picnic. Attendants at MacGruder Hospital in Port Clinton listed her condition as fair.

About two inches of rain fell on the Port Clinton area in a period of 90 minutes. Observers at Cleveland Hopkins Airport reported 1.93 inches in two hours, most to fall on the Cleveland area since April 27-28.

Numerous power blackouts were reported in Cleveland Heights, Shaker Heights, Lakewood, and University Heights.

Mississippi Baptists Book Day of Prayer

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Baptist leaders in Mississippi have sent out letters to 1,856 Baptist churches in the state urging that July 31 be a day of prayer in opposition to the repeal of prohibition.

Most Mississippi counties will vote on repeal of dry laws during August. Two counties—Harrison and Washington—have already approved legal sales of liquor.

Port Clinton Girl Drowns in Indiana

MIDDLEBURY, Ind. (AP)—A dip in Stone Lake Sunday cost the life of Penny Borsch, 16, of Port Clinton, Ohio, who had been vacationing in this area with her mother, Mrs. Zetta Borsch.

Mrs. Borsch said her daughter was a nonswimmer. The body was recovered in eight feet of water.

Next time you are roasting a chicken without stuffing it, try sprinkling the inside with onion salt rather than plain salt. Good flavor!

Neighbor Needs Music Lesson

DEAR ABBY: We recently purchased a very nice home in what we thought was a quiet, refined neighborhood. Shortly after moving in, we discovered that our next door neighbor had decorated the trees in her yard, as well as her porch, with "wind chimes."

They are little brass bells, ceramic discs, wooden clankers and glass do-dads—supposedly "musical" noise makers. The slightest little breeze sets these things knocking against each other and creating the damndest clanging, ringing, tinkling racket you have ever heard. Now we don't want to make enemies of our neighbors right off the bat, but we would like them to know that we do not care for this kind of racket. Or is that music?

5 Track, Field Records Are Broken

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two world records were broken and three American marks fell, but a pair of weary decathlon men gasping through the shadows of evening climaxed the drama.

Track and field stars in the two-day Los Angeles Times International Games were plentiful Saturday and Sunday.

John Pennel set a world pole vault mark of 17 feet, 6 1/4 inches; Australian distance phenomenon Ron Clark was a double winner at 5,000 and 10,000 meters; Jim Ryun won the half-mile, and the U.S. 1,600-meter relay team clipped a second off the world record.

But as the sun set on the rim of Memorial Coliseum Sunday night, 25,000 of the 34,150 attending remained. Russ Rodge and Bill Toomey, after consecutive afternoons of exertion in 90-degree heat, faced the concluding 1,500 meters with a possible world decathlon mark in sight.

Toomey holds the pending mark of 8,234 points, set in Salina, Kan., earlier this month. He broke fast and set the pace.

As the track announcer called the lap times, the crowd stood to cheer the struggling runners to the tape. Toomey crossed the finish line and collapsed into the arms of teammates. Hodge followed.

Both had come just short of the needed times, but Hodge, who missed by only .8 seconds, was the winner with 8,230 points, and was voted the meet's outstanding performer.

Toomey trailed with 8,219. The only world mark to be broken Sunday was the 1,600-meter relay standard. The U.S. team of Bob Frey, Lee Evans, Tommie Smith and Theron Lewis clocked a 2:59.6, eclipsing the 3:00.7 run by the American team in the 1964 Olympics.

Smith, who returned to competition after a leg injury, won the 200 meters in 20.5 before racing an incredible 43.8, 400-meter leg in the relay.

Ryun ran a record-breaking 3:51.3 mile last weekend in Berkeley, Calif., but was unenthusiastic about his half-mile time of 1:46.2 and 800-meter clocking of 1:45.5 Sunday.

The 19-year-old Kansas freshman said, "I wasn't really sure about getting a record, since it's pretty hard to get yourself keyed up every week. Something went wrong with the pace, and then I felt heavy the last 200 yards."

Pennel's vault broke the record of 17-5 1/2, set by his apartment roommate Bob Seagren earlier this spring.

The three American marks were set Saturday before 27,840 Triple jumper Art Watker of Los Angeles hopped, stepped and jumped 54-11, exceeding the 54-7 3/4 he registered a week before in Berkeley.

Charlotte Cooke, the 18-year-old high school student from Los Angeles, was timed in 2:03.8 for 800 meters and 2:04.6 for 880 yards, bettering her previous mark of 2:04.7 and 2:05.0, respectively.

Reds Split Double Bill With Braves

CINCINNATI (AP) — Joe Torre said he had a rough time in the first game but enjoyed the nightcap when the Atlanta Braves split a doubleheader with Cincinnati Sunday.

Torre's 10th inning throwing error helped Vada Pinson score the winning run as the Reds won the first game, 4-3. In the second game, the Braves' catcher drove in three runs with two homers and a single to help Atlanta to a 5-4 victory again in 10 innings.

The key blow was Torre's lead-off homer in the 10th that landed on the embankment of a freeway running past Crosley Field.

Pitchers of both teams had a rough time in the muggy heat. The Reds got a total of 19 hits—13 of them in the nightcap—and the Braves hit safely 17 times.

There was also plenty of home runs. John Edwards, Vada Pinson, and Rico Carty homered in the first game and Torre and Henry Aaron connected in the nightcap.

Jets Fatten Their Lead In IL Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Columbus' Jets bid a reluctant farewell to Syracuse today with a 3 1/2-game International League lead and the alarming prospect of having to play the Syracuse Chiefs only three more times this season.

The mere sight of the Jets sends the Chiefs into a swoon. Of 18 meetings this year, Columbus has won 14. And never has this domination paid off more handsomely than over the last weekend.

The Jets moved into Syracuse last Friday one game ahead of Toronto and Toledo and 1 1/2 games ahead of Rochester. They departed today after sweeping five games in three days.

Columbus completed the clean sweep Sunday by whipping the Chiefs 4-2 and 6-5, thus picking up ground on each of its three close pursuers.

Second-place Rochester was beaten by third-place Toledo, 18-1, and fifth-place Richmond clipped fourth-place Toronto 4-3 in other Sunday games. Buffalo's game at Jacksonville was rained out.

Games Forfeited In Babe Ruth Loop

Logan Elm and Lindsey Bakery forfeited games in the Babe Ruth League Saturday when they failed to appear for scheduled games.

Logan Elm's forfeit was to Kiwanis and the Bakers to L. M. Butch Jewelers.

The tilts were rained out originally and rescheduled by Kelly Boyer, youth baseball program supervisor.

Blind Find Difficulty With Communications

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — "The most difficult task for a blind person is communicating with the sighted world," according to Ned Freeman of Conyers, Ga., who is blind himself.

Freeman, president of the American Council for the Blind, which met here over the weekend, urged blind persons to take advantage of the tools available to help them lead a normal life.

Youth Baseball Program Swings into 2 Final Weeks

The Circleville Youth Baseball Program is entering its last full week of action.

Games will be featured a 11 week with three additional days of action in August.

The Mosquito Loop will conclude this week and K of C has already captured the crown. Hill Implement, Ankrom Lumber and Cook Insurance will be battling for second.

100F in the Little League Minors has claimed the loop championship. They have a three-game lead over the second place teams with only two contests remaining.

5 Track, Field Records Are Broken

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two world records were broken and three American marks fell, but a pair of weary decathlon men gasping through the shadows of evening climaxed the drama.
Track and field stars in the two-day Los Angeles Times International Games were plentiful Saturday and Sunday.
John Pennel set a world pole vault mark of 17 feet, 6 1/4 inches; Australian distance phenomenon Ron Clark was a double winner at 5,000 and 10,000 meters; Jim Ryun won the half-mile, and the U.S. 1,600-meter relay team clipped a second off the world record.

Reds Split Double Bill With Braves

CINCINNATI (AP) — Joe Torre said he had a rough time in the first game but enjoyed the nightcap when the Atlanta Braves split a doubleheader with Cincinnati Sunday.
Torre's 10th inning throwing error helped Vada Pinson score the winning run as the Reds won the first game, 4-3. In the second game, the Braves' catcher drove in three runs with two homers and a single to help Atlanta to a 5-4 victory again in 10 innings.

The key blow was Torre's lead-off homer in the 10th that landed on the embankment of a freeway running past Crosley Field.
Pitchers of both teams had a rough time in the muggy heat. The Reds got a total of 19 hits—13 of them in the nightcap—and the Braves hit safely 17 times.

There was also plenty of home runs. John Edwards, Vada Pinson, and Rico Carty homered in the first game and Torre and Henry Aaron connected in the nightcap.

Jets Fatten Their Lead In IL Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Columbus' Jets bid a reluctant farewell to Syracuse today with a 3 1/2-game International League lead and the alarming prospect of having to play the Syracuse Chiefs only three more times this season.
The mere sight of the Jets sends the Chiefs into a swoon. Of 18 meetings this year, Columbus has won 14. And never has this domination paid off more handsomely than over the last weekend.

The Jets moved into Syracuse last Friday one game ahead of Toronto and Toledo and 1 1/2 games ahead of Rochester. They departed today after sweeping five games in three days.
Columbus completed the clean sweep Sunday by whipping the Chiefs 4-2 and 6-5, thus picking up ground on each of its three close pursuers.

Second-place Rochester was beaten by third-place Toledo, 18-1, and fifth-place Richmond clipped fourth-place Toronto 4-3 in other Sunday games. Buffalo's game at Jacksonville was rained out.

Geiberger Shoving Way To Top of Pro Golf Heap

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Al Geiberger, the new PGA champion, doesn't have the colorful personality traits of golfing heroes Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player.

Chisox Find 'Mistake' Now Correcting Self

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bruce Howard, once best known as Denny McLain's ex-roommate, is suddenly the Chicago White Sox' ex-mistake.

Back in 1963, the Sox had to decide whether to hold on to Howard — who beat Baltimore 4-0 Sunday — or to option him out in favor of McLain, who also was on the club.

They chose Howard, and McLain was snapped up by Detroit where he won 16 games last season and 13 during the first half of this. Howard struggled to a 9-8 record in 1965 and blisters on his fingers kept him from effectiveness this first month of the current season.

But McLain, who threw three perfect innings in the All-Star Game, has fallen on evil times of late — he lost his third game in a row Sunday — and the hottest pitcher in the league at the moment is ex-roomie, ex-mistake Bruce Howard.

McLain, in the meantime, was being shelled in the Tigers' first game loss to Cleveland 3-0. Detroit came back to take the nightcap 2-1 in 10 innings. Other American League action saw New York take a pair from California 9-1 and 4-1, Washington sweep two from Kansas City, 6-2 and 7-4 and Minnesota beat Boston 4-2.

In the National League, Chicago beat St. Louis 10-7 in the first of two, then lost the nightcap 7-4 in 10 innings. Los Angeles took two from the Mets, 5-0 and 6-0 and Cincinnati won the first of two from Atlanta 4-3 and then lost 5-4 with both games going 10 innings. San Francisco beat Philadelphia 4-1 and Pittsburgh beat Houston 11-6.

In snapping the league-leading Orioles' win streak at seven games Sunday, Howard ended his ERA to 2.48. He has allowed five earned runs and 15 hits in his last four starts, two of which he won on four-hitters.

Fayette Fair Plans 4 Nights Of Sulky Races

WASHINGTON C.H. — Four nights of harness races are scheduled this week during the 1966 Fayette County Fair.

Parimutuel betting will be offered at the races which will carry purses in excess of $17,800.

McKinley and Eddie Kirk and John Sagar make up the speed committee.

The schedule:
Tuesday: Overnight Pace, $600; 2-year-old trot stake, $2,500; overnight pace, $400; overnight trot, $400.

Wednesday: 3-year-old trot stake, $3,000; overnight pace stake, $2,500; 2-year-old pace stake, $3,000; overnight pace, $400.

Thursday: overnight pace, $800; 3-year-old pace stake, $3,000; overnight trot, $400; overnight pace, $400; overnight trot, $400.

Friday: overnight trot, $800; 2-year-old pacing fillies, $1,000; overnight pace, $400; overnight trot, $400; overnight pace, $400.

But they may have to make room at the top for this gangling beanpole who has to munch on peanut butter and jelly sandwiches to keep his game going. Geiberger left the Palmers, the Nicklauses, the Players and Billy Caspers in his wake Sunday when he managed to master the gigantic Firestone course and win the PGA's golden anniversary tournament by four strokes over Dudley Wysong.

The victory, Geiberger's first major championship, was no fluke. The 28-year-old Southern California graduate shot an identical 280 for 72 holes last year to beat nearly the same field and win the American Golf Classic at the same 7,180-yard course with a demanding par 70. "Anytime you win a major championship it has to be a longshot," said Geiberger who always seems to be smiling. "Some of my friends thought I had a good chance because they kept saying 'You can win it because you're going back to your own track' in reference to my victory last year.

"I'm glad they were right," said Geiberger, who was presented with a three-pound jar of peanut butter and a loaf of bread when he took his seat in the press tent. Probably the best description of Geiberger was given by Arnold Palmer, who finished with 287 and in a tie for sixth place when he shot a final round of 68.

"Geiberger has the right temperament for this type of course," said Palmer. "It is long, demanding and you need big shots all the time. It can wear you down. Al rambles along like a rolling stone."

Geiberger's victory was worth $25,000. It also gave him a berth in the World Series of Golf next month which carries a top prize of $50,000. It will be played at Firestone Sept. 11-12. Geiberger's foes will be Jack Nicklaus, Casper and Gene Littler.

Nicklaus was tied for 22nd in the PGT with a 292, Casper tied for third with Littler and Gary Player, all finishing with 287.

Sam Snead, who led the tournament after 36 holes, had a final round of 73 and tied for sixth along with Palmer, Doug Sanders, Julius Boros and Jacky Cupit.

Tony Lema, 2 Others Die In Crash on Golf Course

LANSING, Ill. (AP) — Tony Lema, the delightful Champagne Kid whose quick wit and flashing smile had charmed the golfing millions of two continents, died as he had lived—on the golf course.

Lema, 32, his wife Betty, and two others were killed Sunday night when their light plane plunged into the manicured turf of a golf course straddling the Indiana-Illinois state line.

The other victims were Mrs. Doris Mullen of Joliet, Ill., the pilot, and Dr. George Bard of Kankakee, Ill., the co-pilot.

The plane was en route to Joliet from Akron, Ohio, where Lema had played in the Professional Golfers Association Championship Sunday. It crashed and burst into flames on the Lansing Sportsman's Club course.

Lema was scheduled to play in the one-day $12,000 Lincolnshire Tourney at Crete, Ill., today.

A witness, Louis Campagna, said the low-flying plane swerved to avoid a group of people standing near the clubhouse, the engines died, then started and died again, and the plane plunged to the ground, digging up a furrow near the seventh green before bursting into flames.

"The pilot was a hero," he said. "The plane swerved to the left—if it didn't a lot of people would have been hurt."

Lema, a slender, handsome man with a impish grin, flashing blue eyes and thinning hair, was one of the world's leading professionals. His death brought shocked reactions and tributes from throughout the golfing world.

"He was one of the greatest golfers I've ever seen," said his business manager, Fred Crocoran. "I'm all broken up. He was exciting to watch."

"Tony was one of the real great guys on the tour," said Jack Nicklaus, the Masters and British Open champion.

"A shock to all of us—a real loss to the game," said Max Elbin, president of the PGA.

"We were like brothers," said Ken Venturi of San Francisco.

the 1964 U.S. Open champion. "I have known Tony for 20 years. In fact, my mother gave him his first pair of golf shoes. I just can't believe it."

"He was a man's man, a player's player," said Tommy Jacobs, chairman of the PGA players committee. "Most of us didn't understand Tony when he first joined the tour. But we learned we were just taking him the wrong way. We found he was a great guy."

Pony Stars Victorious In Two Tilts

The Circleville Pony League All - Star team won both ends of a doubleheader Sunday, defeating the visiting Gahanna Raiders, 9-8 in the first game and the Columbus Tiger Comets, 12-3, in the second.

Against the Raiders, the score was tied, 8-8, going into the last half of the final inning. Bryce Brown led off the frame with a walk. Doyle Kiser followed with a bunt and Brown scored the winning run from second on a wild throw by the Raider pitcher.

In the second game, the Tiger Comet hurlers had control trouble, giving up a number of walks.

The Pony League All - Stars will compete in a tournament at Westfall starting 1 p. m. Sunday. They play Darbydale of the Fair-Pick League.

interview in the current issue of U.S. News & World report: "As long as the North, beyond the 17th Parallel, is safe, and they will be able to continue to send troops down here — as long as they continue infiltration, subversion, it means we'll continue to have ambushes, assassinations. There will be no real peace."
When asked whether an invasion would bring Communist China into the war, Ky told the magazine:
"The real enemy, the real danger for the present, and particularly for the future, in Southeast Asia is the Chinese C. munists. And with their policy of aggression, expansion, domination, I think, sooner or later, we as free men have to face the Chinese Communists. And I think it's better to face them right now than in five or 10 years."

Ky had repeated last Thursday that he favored a land invasion of the North, but added that he did not know if or when such a move might be made.
Other proposals aimed at ending the war came from former presidential assistant Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. He urged in the current issue of Look magazine the reconvening of the Geneva Conference, stabilization of the number of American forces in Viet Nam, a tapering off of the bombing of the North and discussions with the Soviet Union, France, China and other interested nations about the neutralization, under international guarantee, of all of Southeast Asia.
The former aide to both Presidents John F. Kennedy and Johnson also said increased "Americanization" of the war could make it "unwinnable." Instead, he urged the United States to encourage a civilian government representing "the significant political forces in the country" and "capable both of rallying the army and carrying out programs of social reform."

Uncertainty, Doubt Cloud Cleveland Racial Scene

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Mayor Ralph S. Locher looks at it this way: "After things are bad, they can only get better."
The mayor said Sunday night that slum conditions in the riot-struck East Side certainly warrant action but that is no excuse for violence.
"We must address ourselves now to this relatively small group that's been causing the disturbances," the mayor said.
When he was asked about criticism that Hough had been ignored, Locher said programs dealing with poverty and new school facilities "indicate a great amount of attention has been paid to problems of the Hough area."
The city has had financial difficulties, he said. But within the available resources, Locher said, "we have done as much as possible to alleviate conditions not only in Hough but all over the city."
The Rev. Carles Rawlings said he did not feel that the Hough outbreak awakened Cleveland to the continuing danger. He said it has become increasingly obvious there is a lack of civil leadership.
"I think we have seen just the opening phase of the Negro community's capacity to express its anger," said Rawlings, the executive director of the Metropolitan Affairs Commission of the Council of Churches of Christ of Greater Cleveland.
"I think we are well on our way to a situation that will

Census Aide Is Stabbed To Death

JEFFERSON, Ohio (AP) — Detectives of the Ashtabula County Sheriff's Department were continuing their investigation today into the violent stabbing death of a New York woman Thursday.
The body of Miss Lynda Ann Moore, 20, of Chenango Forks, N.Y., was found Friday in the back seat of a new car on a county road southwest of here. She had been stabbed 15 times and her throat was slashed.
Deputies said Sunday that department's investigation unit was talking with Miss Moore's acquaintances, trying to find a clue to her slayer's identity. Fingerprints taken from the car were being checked by the FBI, deputies said.
Miss Moore was fully clothed when found, deputies said, and there appears to be no indication that she was sexually molested.
Sheriff Tom Fasula said he was not discounting a theory that the red haired government census taker might have been forced from her car while taking a farm employment survey in the area.

Laurelville Girl To Sing in Choir

Becky McClelland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merwin McClelland, Laurelville, has been invited to sing with the Ohio State Fair Youth Choir.
The choir, directed by Glenville Thomas, will consist of 325 youths who have exhibited exceptional vocal ability and will draw its members from every county throughout the state.
Miss McClelland will be a member of the alto section of the choral group. The group is the world's largest all-youth, four-part choir.
Members of the choir will convene on Aug. 30, for rehearsals and concerts will be presented at the State Fair during the long Labor Day weekend.

interview in the current issue of U.S. News & World report: "As long as the North, beyond the 17th Parallel, is safe, and they will be able to continue to send troops down here — as long as they continue infiltration, subversion, it means we'll continue to have ambushes, assassinations. There will be no real peace."

When asked whether an invasion would bring Communist China into the war, Ky told the magazine:

"The real enemy, the real danger for the present, and particularly for the future, in Southeast Asia is the Chinese Communists. And with their policy of aggression, expansion, domination, I think, sooner or later, we as free men have to face the Chinese Communists. And I think it's better to face them right now than in five or 10 years."

Ky had repeated last Thursday that he favored a land invasion of the North, but added that he did not know if or when such a move might be made.

Other proposals aimed at ending the war came from former presidential assistant Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. He urged in the current issue of Look magazine the reconvening of the Geneva Conference, stabilization of the number of American forces in Viet Nam, a tapering off of the bombing of the North and discussions with the Soviet Union, France, China and other interested nations about the neutralization, under international guarantee, of all of Southeast Asia.

The former aide to both Presidents John F. Kennedy and Johnson also said increased "Americanization" of the war could make it "unwinnable." Instead, he urged the United States to encourage a civilian government representing "the significant political forces in the country" and "capable both of rallying the army and carrying out programs of social reform."

OHIO'S BIGGEST — Standing 32 feet high and measuring 100 feet in length, the new main entrance sign to the Ohio State Fairgrounds will be the biggest in the state when it's completed. E. J. Keirns (above), state fair manager, points out the construction progress of the new entrance to his wife and daughter. Costing $40,000, every pillar of the huge sign will house a ticket booth and pedestrian traffic will be permitted at all openings.

Uncertainty, Doubt Cloud Cleveland Racial Scene

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Mayor Ralph S. Locher looks at it this way: "After things are bad, they can only get better."

The mayor said Sunday night that slum conditions in the riot-struck East Side certainly warrant action but that is no excuse for violence.

"We must address ourselves now to this relatively small group that's been causing the disturbances," the mayor said.

When he was asked about criticism that Hough had been ignored, Locher said programs dealing with poverty and new school facilities "indicate a great amount of attention has been paid to problems of the Hough area."

The city has had financial difficulties, he said. But within the available resources, Locher said, "we have done as much as possible to alleviate conditions not only in Hough but all over the city."

The Rev. Carles Rawlings said he did not feel that the Hough outbreak awakened Cleveland to the continuing danger. He said it has become increasingly obvious there is a lack of civil leadership.

"I think we have seen just the opening phase of the Negro community's capacity to express its anger," said Rawlings, the executive director of the Metropolitan Affairs Commission of the Council of Churches of Christ of Greater Cleveland.

"I think we are well on our way to a situation that will produce another Watts," Rawlings said.

State Rep. Carl B. Stokes, a Negro who narrowly missed defeating Locher last year, said the mayor could have begun construction of playgrounds and urban renewal buildings before now. Any concrete action would have appreciably lessened the danger of an outbreak, Stokes said.

Stokes said the cost of police and National Guardsmen, plus the property and tax losses, was far above what it would have cost to initiate programs to head off the riots.

Ralph M. Besse, president of Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co., said slum conditions were at the root of the outbreaks. He said racial communications have been a problem but a new committee is being formed to attack this.

Besse said the attack on causes of the trouble must aim at unemployment, housing and "the dual problems of qualification and motivation" for Negro youth. That means better training programs, better education, he said.

"This is a very difficult problem," Besse said. "How fast can we move? That is the toughest problem."

Census Aide Is Stabbed To Death

JEFFERSON, Ohio (AP) — Detectives of the Ashtabula County Sheriff's Department were continuing their investigation today into the violent stabbing death of a New York woman Thursday.

The body of Miss Lynda Ann Moore, 20, of Chenango Forks, N.Y., was found Friday in the back seat of a new car on a county road southwest of here. She had been stabbed 15 times and her throat was slashed.

Deputies said Sunday that department's investigation unit was talking with Miss Moore's acquaintances, trying to find a clue to her slayer's identity. Fingerprints taken from the car were being checked by the FBI, deputies said.

Miss Moore was fully clothed when found, deputies said, and there appears to be no indication that she was sexually molested.

Sheriff Tom Fasula said he was not discounting a theory that the red haired government census taker might have been forced from her car while taking a farm employment survey in the area.
